

DANVILLE ISOLATED BY SLEET CITY CHARTER BILL HANGS MUCH DAMAGE DONE IN CITY DURING NIGHT KILLS TRIO, SUICIDES NO COMMITTEE ACTION TAKEN; HOUSE MAY ACT

Danville Begins to Emerge From Worst Sleet Storm in Ten Years—Communication Paralyzed, Not a Single Wire Running Out of City for Some Time—Streets Filled With Broken Tree Limbs Which Collapsed Under Weight Of Ice—Many Local Wires, Both Telephone and Electric, Down—Damage Will Run Into Thousands.

Danville began to emerge this morning from the worst sleet storm it has experienced for the past ten years, one which completely paralyzed the arteries of communication radiating from this city to other points and which played havoc with thousands of stalwart trees which were denuded of limbs and boughs under the weight of the ice formation which began yesterday morning and which continued through the day. Damage appears to have been confined to trees and wires. No personal injuries have been reported although many narrow escapes were had last night through the crashing of limbs to the sidewalk. The greatest menace this morning lay in the large number of trailing wires which appeared harmless enough lying on the ground but which carried the possibility of instant death especially where they hung over high power transmission wires.

Recognizing the possible danger of accident, the city engineers urged extreme care on the part of all people not to touch hanging wires and not to touch wet telegraph poles which might cause serious electric shocks. He also pointed out the necessity of parents warning their children about this danger until the storm passes. Working to remove the damage has collected the loose ends and put them out of harm's way.

Estimates of the monetary damage done by the constant rain of yesterday and last night with the mercury standing at 32 degrees was $200,000. The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company had the hardest hit and the damage will run into thousands, taking into consideration the time of emergency crews, new material placed in the business district to put through long distance telephone calls. Precipitation to the city when out of control and had not been restored late this morning. Fragments of reports of what happened reached Danville on a single strand of copper wire which was kept working in order by the Western Union Telegraph Company.

Damage in the countryside appears to have been heavy, especially to fruit trees which collapsed readily under the weight of the ice. Enquiries made this morning at the headquarters of the local wire companies all showed the same plight, and the situation was an acute situation and striving to re-establish lines of communication, both in and out of the city.

The principal damage suffered by these concerns was the weight of the ice-encrusted wires, poles being dragged down under the exception of weight and with service wires everywhere broken in two, both by falling limbs and trees bowed down under the sleet-covered branches and wires.

H. O. Eanes, local manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, was up early this morning and made a survey of the local situation. He reported the situation the worst in ten years, and damage so heavy that it would be Saturday, Sunday and Monday before normal service could be rendered. Not a service line was up at daybreak today. At least ten poles bearing the long lines running to Richmond were down on the Bradley road. The mesh of long-distance wires which follow the course of Watson street crossing over Virginia avenue and across fields to Main street went down with a crash in the middle of the night, a pole caving in and carrying down 40 or 50 copper wires. This was done by the first job tackled along the Southern Railway tracks were down, scores of poles and cross arms being torn loose and carrying down not only the Chesapeake and Potomac lines but also Postal and Western Union lines, power wires operating the semaphore system and the railway telegraph wires.

Mr. Eanes reported that up until 9:00 o'clock nearly 150 local troubles were reported, these being breaks in wires running from poles into various homes which had been snapped by falling branches. This number was expected to be augmented during the day. One attack of the local office was posted at a telephone in the exchange building, devoting his time to recording these complaints. There are 3,800 telephones in the city and the number of instruments "dead" was considerably small in view of general assault by the elements. Mr. Eanes also reported that a crew of men with material would probably arrive in Danville from Roanoke this morning to begin the work of the morning long distance telephone calls were piling up in the exchange office with small prospect of service being given during the day. Mr. Eanes, who said that the heavy rain, which set in as soon as the sun rose this morning, did not return the situation, as there was the likelihood of

In Yesterday's Big Fire

Almost a score of persons perished in a fire that swept the building at No. 397 Madison street, New York City. It took but five minutes, according to firemen, to snuff out the lives—the quickest fire disaster on record. As far as could be learned fire started in a baby carriage in the basement. Photo shows Patrolman O'Hara holding the carriage in which the blaze is believed to have begun. An investigation has started into the cause.

NICKLE RIDES ON STREET CARS TO BEGIN APRIL 6

Confirming the recent exclusive announcement in The Bee that the Danville Traction and Power Company intends to revert to the five-cent fare to see if patronage on the lines of the company would be increased, it was stated this morning that the experiment will be inaugurated on April 6th next. On that day the price of a ride on any of the Danville street cars will be one nickel, instead of seven cents as at present. This will be a cash fare and no tokens will be sold. The experiment is to be tried for a ten-day period, or until April 16th, during which time careful analysis of the results will be made. The company will be in the public to their confidence by showing them exactly the result. Each day during the ten-day trial the patronage of the day before will be given to the public, thus showing from day to day if the experiment is succeeding. Should the experiment fail to encourage a larger degree of street car riding then the seven-cent fare will be resumed and it is likely that the company officials will seek at the hands of the council an amendment to the franchise authorizing the use of one-man cars. At the company's offices today was in course of preparation a full announcement in which the experiment is being put directly up to the people who are urged to patronize the street cars more. It being pointed out that the continuation of the five-cent fare depends entirely upon the degree of support and co-operation that is given by the public during the trial period. Should the five-cent fare plan succeed, then outstanding tokens will be redeemed by the company at the price for which they were sold. A direct appeal is also made to the owners of automobiles not to pick up passengers during the trial period. It is this, according to company officials, which is very largely responsible for the paucity of street cars and which has reduced the current income of the company to a point where, they maintain, something must be done.

Averett Students To Attend Life Calling Conference

Students at Averett Baptist College will tomorrow participate in their annual Life Calling Conference which will be attended by prominent figures in the state Baptist Association. It has been the custom for the past few years to devote a period in the work of the session to the future calling of the students who on that day give thought to their life work and begin thinking about the careers which they will undertake upon completion of their studies. There will be three sessions. One at half past nine o'clock, another in the course of the morning and the third at eight o'clock at night to which the public will be invited. Dr. J. W. Carnack, educational secretary of the state mission board will preside at the morning session. Rev. T. E. Peters of Kentucky will also be heard others attending being J. M. Eaves of the foreign mission board of Richmond and Dr. Rolivk Harlan professor of sociology at Richmond University. These speakers will also be heard at night.

COLD STORAGE APPLES NOT BEING SHIPPED TO ENGLAND

WINCHESTER, Feb. 20.—Shipments of apples from the Winchester cold storage plants to parts of the United Kingdom have fallen off to nothing because of the dock worker's strike, it was stated today. The only export shipments from local storage are those going to Germany, and these are not large, although not reported to have been around $6 a barrel. Shipments to British ports began to fall off during the recent railway strike in England and now that the dock workers have gone out they have ceased altogether. —City Sergeant and Mrs. Pat H. Belmore are in Tampa, Fla., on a two weeks' visit to their daughter. Notice: The Bee delivered to your door, 15c a week. Call 21.

FOUR DEAD AS RESULT OF A FAMILY FUSS

Illinois Man Kills Daughter, Her Husband and Their Daughter, Then Ends Own Life.

(Associated Press Leased Wire) PHILLO, Illinois, Feb. 20.—Following a family quarrel, Louis Kunkle, a butcher of Homer, Illinois, shot and killed his son-in-law, Joe Whittle, Mrs. Whittle and Whittle's eighteen years old daughter, and then shot and killed himself.

TOWN TOPICS

Work is going forward in a quiet way in regard to the two pending vacancies in the city council. Two of three gentlemen are known to have been approached recently. Among those thus approached but who are understood to have declined to entertain the suggestion of appointment are O. L. Roach and Julian C. Jordan, both experienced councilmen, and Henry F. Day. The plan is it is reliably understood, to find two gentlemen who would be willing to stand for election next June. Entering the council at this time they would have an opportunity of familiarizing themselves with the work of the city and especially with the budget now being prepared.

All of the city banks will be closed on Friday, February 22nd, the day being Washington's holiday and a bank holiday.

Pastors of the Rockledge Baptist Association will assemble at Averett College tomorrow morning at Averett College for the purpose of discussing their peculiar problems. The session will be held at half past eleven and will be attended by some fifteen Baptist ministers included in the territory which embraces Pittsylvania county.

A hearing is expected to be given E. T. Morris in the police court tomorrow morning on the alleged assault on Henry Arnstein which took place in a shoe shine parlor on Main street last Saturday afternoon. The case was continued last Monday until Thursday. Morris is under bond for his appearance.

B. F. Clark, of 9 Cliff street, was exhibited today an egg weighing three and a half ounces, which was laid last night by a small Buff Orpington hen.

James Collier and Ann Fuller, representatives of the Pittsylvania Board of Supervisors, have gone to Richmond to buy ten mules for the county. They are to be used on the county roads.

Gypsy Band Again Overhauled; Made to Return Money

Further developments in the recent round-up of gypsies near Gretna came this morning. In addition to the $150 which these wanderers are said to have collected from Pittsylvania farmers during their journey through the county last Saturday, they succeeded in making Preston Fruit, a farm of Galveston, part with the sum of $118, which is said to have had the money in his pocket when of the party. Pruitt is said to have had the money in his pocket and was intent on making a payment on some land when the gypsies beset him and by various wiles and alleged tricks took possession of it. Pruitt filed complaint and on Monday accompanied with Deputy Sheriff T. P. Smith, they motored to Lynchburg and passing through the Hills, they overtook the caravan some miles north. The gypsies were again halted by the law and Pruitt is said to have identified readily the woman he charged with nicking him of his money. The woman was arrested and was about to be carried back when one of the gypsy leaders appeared on the scene and after a conference the woman restored the amount sought and Pruitt and the officer returned. George A. Green, of Brownsville, is another who is reported to have learned a lesson at the hand of the nomads.

The gypsies, it is reported, are not without their champions in the county, who are said to hold that they should not have been treated as they were. These are some who insist that instead of being gypsies they were Indians, though the original identification is accepted in official quarters. CALVARY CHURCH LECTURE POSTPONED Owing to illness and the unsettled weather, the concert to have been given at Calvary church, Thursday evening, the 11th, has been changed to a later date.

YOUTH HELD FOR MURDER OF HIS PARENTS

(By the Associated Press.) SAINT PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 20.—Frank McDowell, eighteen, was arrested here today following the finding of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McDowell, shot through their heads as they lay in bed at their home here, several miles out of town, and been struck on the head and rendered unconscious and when he regained himself he found his parents dead. He called the police he said.

One Scholarship Already Provided 4 Others Sought

The scholarship committee of the Community Welfare Association held its first meeting yesterday evening with Frank Talbot, chairman, Dr. F. V. Moore, Dr. C. B. Harper and Dr. Malcolm S. Taylor in attendance. The committee was appointed several days ago to encourage the granting of scholarships for children in church schools who for one reason or another are unable to attend the local schools. Discussion of the purpose of the committee, revealed an urgent need for such scholarships, especially for children who are designated as "delinquent" and who are in such poor circumstances that they cannot attend the day session in the local schools. Miss Margaret Maxon summarized the local situation before the committee and reported 24 children in this city who would be benefited by scholarships. Two of these are girls. The ages of the children range from ten to fifteen years, she reported.

Six of the total number reported are in need of attention without further delay. One case has already been provided for, the sum of $100 being pledged to cover a scholarship. Mr. Taylor said that he hoped to provide one scholarship through the instrumentality of his church leaving four still to be cared for. The circumstances in each case will probably be communicated to local civic clubs which undertake constructive work in a quiet way. The scholarships, according to Miss Maxon can be secured for from $10 to $30. In the meantime letters will be sent to the various church schools, in this state and in North Carolina, asking for terms also whether or not a reduction in fees could be permitted in view of the charitable nature of the work. The value of securing scholarships in the church schools, Miss Maxon reports, lies in the fact that the children live at the institution and are under constant care and observation.

MAN IS FOUND DEAD BENEATH RY. TRESTLE

LURAY, Feb. 20.—James Campbell, son of Charles Campbell, living near Keystone, this county, ten miles south of Luray, was found at an early hour Sunday morning beneath a trestle on the North & Western railway, and only a short distance from his home. Sheriff Lucas, accompanied by the mayor of Stanley, near where Campbell's body was found, were on duty Sunday. Efforts are being made to ascertain by what means Campbell came to his death, whether by foul play or that he was attempting to cross the trestle and was struck by one of the night trains on the road. Some believe that Campbell had ridden a freight from Stanley to that point, and while attempting to alight, while the train was in motion, he knocked off the trestle in the darkness. Campbell has an ugly laceration on his side, otherwise, there are no marks of violence upon his body.

ACTION ON CO-OP PLANT IN DANVILLE IS DEFERRED

The question of building a large storage warehouse here which is understood to have been projected by the Tobacco Growers Co-operative Marketing Association has not been definitely determined, according to E. L. Walton, director of warehouses in this section and who was seen this morning upon his return from Richmond. It had been announced that this question would come up at the monthly meeting of directors held in Richmond yesterday and local officials had been hopeful that affirmative action would be taken on the subject. Mr. Walton is stating that the Danville warehouse project "tabled" and that there are so many other matters having precedence that the directors did not reach the matter also that there was no discussion of it. Mr. Walton indicated clearly that he did not consider the issue a dead one but that he expected it would come up at the next monthly meeting in Richmond when he expects definite action to be taken. Mr. Walton was also asked relative to the second payment to members in which there is growing interest among hundreds of farmers in this section. He stated that no definite intelligence bearing on this subject, declaring however, that a further distribution would take place in this section as soon as possible. It is not expected that this will come prior to the second district election in South Carolina which will be made. It is reported, some time in March. The organization is understood to be trying to get away from the habit of setting approximate dates in advance, owing to the tremendous burden of clerical detail.

SEN. ELKINS BOUGHT OIL STOCK, ADMITS

(Associated Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Senator Elkins, a Republican, of West Virginia, said today that he had purchased stock of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Company. He added that he was perfectly willing to go before the Senate Oil Committee and answer questions. His statement revealed that he is the senator who came before the committee yesterday. He visited the committee room today for the examination of Harry Payne Whitney, but was not heard. Members said if he were called it would be in an open session.

Five Are Killed In Sofia Battle

(Associated Press Leased Wire) SOFIA, Feb. 20.—A fight between police and a band of alleged anarchists, led by a woman, last night, resulted in the death of five persons, including two policemen and the wounding of several others. Police were about to search the house in which the band was congregated when there was a volley, killing two raiders and wounding eight. Soldiers and firemen were summoned and laid siege to the place. Mr. Walton had no definite information as to the further slaughter. Finally the police ordered firemen to destroy the building. Kerosene was poured into the cellar and ignited. The flames reached the upper stories, the three surviving occupants surrendered. The bodies of the woman leader and two others were found in the building.

Mrs. A. W. Traylor Entertains
Mrs. Alonzo W. Traylor was hostess at a beautifully appointed bridge party of five tables at her residence on Virginia avenue yesterday afternoon. The honoree, Mrs. J. E. Noon, the guest of honor, Mrs. E. Stuart, who is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Rorer A. James, Jr. In every respect the function was one of the prettiest of its kind this season.

The designs and color tone running through the decorations were an anticipation of St. Patrick's Day. Chandeliers hung with gracefully drooping green mosses, and tables with silver candlesticks bound with bows of green tulle carried the vernal hue effectively, while bowls of white narcissus on mantels and tabernacles contrasted effectively against the green background. A white salad green, this being followed by Charlotte Russe capped with whipped cream in which nestled a cherry. The hostess had provided a guest-of-honor prize and additional prizes for high-score honoree each table. For the guest of honor a packet of the hostess's articles was provided, while at the several tables the prizes were a pair of candle-sticks, an embroidered guest collar, a hand-made kerchief, two packs of cards, and as a consolation prize a twin-bail holder was given.

Those enjoying Mrs. Traylor's charming hospitality included Messrs. J. E. B. Stuart, W. C. Day, W. E. Lewis, B. F. Jefferson, H. C. Swanson, Z. V. Johnson, J. L. Jenkins, E. F. Magee, J. B. Graham, J. E. Taylor, J. H. Schofield, Jr., W. J. E. Johnston, T. O. Parker, C. C. Johnson, O. W. Dudley, W. T. Gravelly, Frank Higgins, H. C. Ficklen, George Penn, W. R. Toomey, Raymond Hall, C. B. Williams, son came in after the game.

Mrs. J. A. Reynolds Hostess
Another unusually pretty and enjoyable card party was given by Mrs. Joseph A. Reynolds at her residence on Virginia avenue. Six tables of bridge afforded spirited competition for the honors of the game. In its appointments and general decorative effect the function may be characterized as a "Washington" party, the decorations, the score-cards and the many little details carrying out the birthday idea. Red candles, little baskets, decorated with cherries and other touches suggested the Washington idea.

After the competition for the hon-

FINANCE LAND PURCHASE
DUBLIN, Feb. 19.—Under the Land Purchase Act passed in 1923, all land tenancies in the Free State were abolished and the tenants become proprietors, paying annual instalments to the state. The instalments are from 25 to 35 per cent less than the rents, and the purchase will be completed in about 70 years.

The landlords are to be paid for their property in four and one-half per cent Free State stock of which 25,000,000 pounds sterling will need to be issued. The cash value of this security to the landlords depends on the credit of the Free State on the money markets, but the British government will guarantee the principal and interest of the land purchase stock.

There are still in northern Ireland many unpurchased tenancies and the British government is pledged to assist the northern government to complete land purchase within its jurisdiction.

DOROTHEA HENRY
CHAPTER, D. A. R.

Despite unusually unfavorable and even disagreeable weather conditions, the meeting and entertainment of the Dorothea Henry chapter, D. A. R., at the residence of Mrs. William T. Hughes, regent, yesterday afternoon was attended by a large proportion of the members and by many guests. The room was effectively decorated in patriotic colors and suggestions of colonial days and of Washington's birthday, flags and greenery being effectively used, while a cherry ice course was served, and the center-piece was a basket of cherries. Mrs. Hughes maintained her reputation as a gracious and charming hostess and was assisted by other members of the chapter.

After dispatching a brief business program, the chapter enjoyed the entertainment of the afternoon. This included brilliant piano numbers by Mr. Samuel Sours, vocal numbers by Miss Root, head of the voice culture department at Averett College, who won three honors by her brilliant work; the reading of her brilliant work, the reading of a "musical number" entitled "The Spirit of '76," by Mrs. Harry Wooding, Jr., done in excellent style, and a patriotic and historical address by the Rev. L. L. McCulloch. The speaker had as his theme Yorktown, and he gave a vivid picture of the many celebrities assembled at that historic little Virginia town in October, 1781, his address indicating wide reading and research and an intimate knowledge of the history of those momentous times. His address of some 45 minutes was a very fine one and held the close interest of his audience.

GERMANY WILL CONTINUE TO PAY
OCCUPATION COSTS

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
BERLIN, Feb. 19.—Germany will continue to pass the cost of the army of occupation of France, Belgium and England as long as its currency remains stable and as long as it is done without overthrowing the present artificial balance of expenses. Foreign Minister Stresemann announced at a meeting of members of the reichstag foreign relations committee in which the German attitude towards the League of Nations, the Washington flag incident and the recovery act were discussed.

History, not tactlessness, was to blame for the fact that the German embassy at Washington did not put its flag at half mast immediately following the death of Woodrow Wilson.

When Ambassador Wiedfeldt's inquiry on how to behave in the event of Mr. Wilson's death arrived at the State Department, officials studied dusty documents of the past and discovered that when Grover Cleveland died the German embassy at Washington did not put its flag at half mast, consequently all Germany could do was to respect tradition and not place its flag at half mast in honor of Mr. Wilson. This was the gist of Herr Stresemann's reply to a bitter attack by former Ambassador Bernstorff and Herr Breitscheid, Socialist leader, who accused the government of lack of tact and wisdom.

Her Hoetzsch, a Nationalist parted the government on the back. Herr Stresemann entreated the members not to start new discussions of the incident, praying that the "incident be forgotten as soon as possible."

The League of Nations figures in the program to Germany since the foreign office intends to send a note to the allies demanding that, in accordance with the Treaty of Versailles, the military control of Germany be entrusted to the League of Nations. The Versailles treaty provides that as soon as the allies declare Germany disarmed, the League of Nations is entitled to take control of the German government. The question will not be discussed until Germany is disarmed.

The recovery act, granting the allies twenty-six per cent of the value of Germany's exports, is being discussed in London where a special German mission arrived yesterday.

Meet Guest of Honor

Where there is a guest of honor, like a wedding, coming out, and so on, every guest should make it a point to meet the guest of honor. It is extremely rude to have been invited to such an affair and then leave without having been introduced to the main attraction.

FASHION NOTES

SHORT SLEEVE OR NONE
The only alternative for the very short sleeve in the summer collection is the absolutely sleeveless model.

COLLARS AND CUFFS
Crepe de chine collar and cuffs set are corded on the edge or outlined with two or three different shades of narrow program ribbon.

CLOCHE TRIMMING
Slipper smart motifs make the trimming on smart little clothes of black satin or taffeta.

BLACK SATIN
Black satin is increasing in popularity as the spring and summer models are exploited. Frequently it shows touches of color, or the delft addition of a little gold or silver tissue.

FLOWERS ON HATS
Flowers are to be used lavishly on summer millinery, especially field flowers and roses in big bunches.

FULLNESS IN FRONT
Front fullness for frocks is being stressed by a number of French houses, but the plain flat-back effect is almost invariable.

DETACHABLE LINING
Detachable linings of white silk that may be worn as a separate wrap are shown with some of the newest black silk wraps.

LACE VEILS
Lace veils and streamers are popular on large and small hats and are particularly effective on black satin models.

SPORT AND TAILORED

Not every suit for this season is strictly tailored as a combination that combines the best points of each and achieves a charming originality. The material is navy charmeuse and the stripes are of white kid.

The Peter Pan collar and the unusual cuffs are not only youthful, but are unusual.

According to the formula of this season, all thought is lavished on the coat, and the skirt is straight, narrow and short.

FURTHER FALL OF FRANC PROVOKES SCENES OF STORM

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
PARIS, Feb. 19.—The fall of the franc to 23.41 to the dollar and more than 100 to the pound sterling provoked stormy scenes in the French chamber of deputies today, during which Premier Poincare had a busy time avoiding verbal missiles hurled at him as being the chief cause of the disaster.

Revolutionary measures were offered to remedy the situation, among them a communist amendment proposing that the state take over all the big banks.

Leon Daudet, Royalist leader, unexpectedly mounted the tribune and gave support to the Communist amendment, confirming the Communist assertion that the big banks were becoming scandalously rich to the gradual impoverishment of the public.

M. Daudet proposed the establishment of tribunals to deal summarily with bankers who fattened on the public misery.

The backing by the Royalists of the Communist measure caused a big uproar in the chamber. The amendment was defeated by a big majority. The rapid fall of the franc is stimulating the strike epidemic in the region of the Seine. More than 30,000 workers are now out in various industries in and around Paris on demands of higher wages. With the franc steadily going down indications point to a gradual increase in the strike movement.

The Tangle

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO SYDNEY CAITON, CONTINUED

Sometimes I think, Syd, that women's minds are much cleverer than men's. They have to educate them or rather cultivate them because, of course, we have always had the muscular strength and they got their own only by quicker thinking and cleverer planning.

I confess I was much surprised when Ruth said to me that Leslie would not worry very much if she did not have to give up the boy. I always thought it would hurt her beyond everything to know of my peccadillo even though I swear to you I have been as straight as a string since our marriage.

Ruth, however, insisted that the best plan of all was to make a clean breast of it. She made a somewhat ambiguous remark when she said this, that I have been very curious about.

She said, "I have been having a good deal of experience lately with trying to keep things from other people that are perfectly innocent in themselves, because of being afraid that the other person would be hurt. It seems to me, Jack, that when two people are married or even friends, if you cannot be truthful and perfectly straightforward and sincere with each other you had better break up altogether."

Do you suppose, Syd, by any possibility that Leslie is concerned in that six thousand dollars? Really, I'm rather ashamed of that question, but all the while it keeps nagging me. Of course, I knew positively that even if Leslie did have six thousand dollars she did not want me to know about it, it would be nothing derogatory to her. But I cannot understand why Leslie should have six thousand dollars she did not want me to know about.

I have explained it to myself this way: probably she asked her father for more money than she gave me so that she might have a little nest-egg if we got into any more trouble. But even if this be so, it gives me a ne wright on Leslie's character. I did not dream that she had the slightest thought she would not confide in me.

I wonder if every man has this same feeling about his wife. After what Ruth said about possession, I have come to the conclusion that unconsciously I have treated Leslie as my possession, as something wholly in my keeping.

I am quite sure now that this is not so, especially as Ruth proceeded to explain in answer to my question, "Is it possible, Jack, you have not found that by some kind of operation of nature a woman, after the first flush of passionate love has passed in her married life, is almost sure to have children — and with most women maternal love is stronger than wife's?"

"Children are not as disappointing as husbands, principally I suppose because the mother feels they are her possessions. Love as we know it means possession. It will never be perfect until it means mutual giving."

"Do all women hold these opinions?" I asked, forgetting for the brand new idea.

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Durdard Adams, son of Rev. George Adams, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., a witness today for Mrs. Charlotte Leland in her husband's suit for divorce, testified that his mother at the time she was divorced by Rev. Adams, five years ago admitted she had improper relations with Rev. Carl D. Case, named as co-respondent by Albert R. Leland.

The witness said Dr. Case's name was not mentioned in his father's divorce suit in the east. He said the divorce became absolute in 1921.

We take the SPOTS away!

What This Service Is Doing for Persons Who Are Particular

THE secret of those admired persons, who succeed in being so well groomed, lies in the frequent cleansing of their apparel. A gown, or a suit or wrap, never appears with a spot. Unseemly wrinkles are absent. Each garment, no matter how old, retains marvelously its shapeliness, life and good looks.

For the most particular woman, and men, too, we are regularly cleaning many things, from filmy evening gowns or lace negligees to the heaviest tweed suits, overcoats or furs.

And for every kind of garment the process is exclusive, aiming not merely to cleanse (and frequently to dye) but as well to restore freshness and serviceability.

Compared to results—actual savings in clothing expense—the cost of our service is scarcely to be considered.

Our equipment is scientific and we use the best known methods. Our workers are responsible, headed in each department by dyers, dry cleaners, spotters, pressers, tailors, etc., who have studied to become experts. We endeavor to merit your confidence.

SHIRLEY GETS SIX YEARS

RICHMOND, Feb. 19.—R. Lewis Sholly, former cashier of the National Bank of Hopewell, was sentenced to six years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta this afternoon by Judge Lawrence Groner in the United States district court. Sholly was convicted of irregularities in connection with the operation of the bank, which was closed at the time his alleged shortage was discovered. He entered a plea of guilty to certain of the charges and denied others, on which he has never been tried. The bank was later taken over by a Richmond banking institution and is now being operated as a branch bank.

"I BELIEVE IT SAVED MY LIFE"

S. E. Feeno, of West Swaney, N. H., Regains His Lost Health by Taking Paw Paw

"Over one year ago," writes S. E. Feeno, of West Swaney, N. H., "I was taken with itching on my hands and it grew worse and worse. I tried all kinds of ointments, but to no avail. I took many patent medicines, but none of them did me any good. I could not sleep nights, my hands were in a terrible shape, and the skin on them would dry up and crack open and, when I would knock the hide off from them, there was no blood that came, but just a white, raw, sore. I tried one of Paw Paw Tonic and found it had done me some good. I am now on my fourth bottle and my hands are cured. I have good rich blood and feel like a new man. I think Paw Paw Tonic is the best I ever used and I can recommend it very highly. It is the most beautiful medicine for a spring tonic. I really believe it saved my life, for I feel fine now and I would advise everyone who is run down to give Paw Paw Tonic a fair trial, for I surely know that they will receive good results from it."

Do YOU suffer from any kind of blood trouble? Do you often feel tired out? Are your nerves "on edge"? Are you irritable or depressed? Does your food seem to lie in your stomach like a heavy ball? Are you bilious? Do you know heartburn's stabs? Do you lie awake at nights?

All these things may come from disordered stomach. Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic is made to put your stomach right, and make it digest food properly and freshen up your whole system.

Try it! It costs only $1 a bottle. You can purchase it at any first-class drug store. "There's a Munyon Pill for Every Ill." Munyon's, Scranton, Pa.

SUTOR CHASED AROUND WORLD TO WIN BRIDE

Man, 62, Successful in Courtship, Married Then Kept It Secret 18 Monhs.

(By Chicago Tribune Service.) NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—A sixty-year-old sutor's chase around the world to win a bride, his victory, and a subsequent flight of 18 months to keep it out of the papers were revealed when Mrs. Margaret Sanger, birth control leader and mother of three children, admitted that for the last year and a half she has been the wife of J. Neah H. Slee, millionaire president of the Three-in-One Oil Company.

Slee, sixty-two and a typical staid pillar of finance, pursued Mrs. Sanger, who for years was a member of the advanced school of Greenwich Village Philosophers, during the two years she toured the world, preaching the gospel of birth control and fighting for passports in Japan, China and Europe.

Previously she had divorced William Sanger, an artist of moderate means. They lived in a small flat on West 14th street. Mrs. Margaret Sanger now lives in a luxurious apartment at 39 Fifth avenue, while her three sons, all under twenty, are being educated at expensive schools. One is studying at Versailles, France.

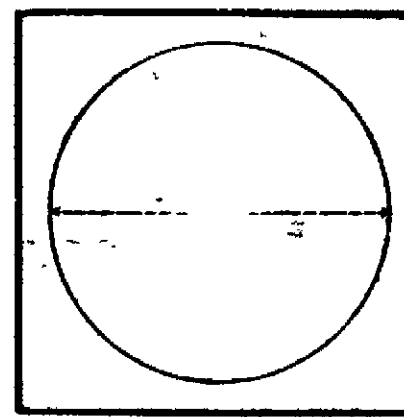

The romance of Slee, who is the father of three children, the youngest of whom is twenty-seven, and Mrs. Sanger, began soon after the millionaire business man first took an active interest in the birth control movement.

After the police broke up an American Birth Control League meeting in town hall here on November 13, 1921, Mrs. Sanger was one of five witnesses who testified in Mrs. Sanger's behalf of an investigation conducted by Commissioner of Accounts David Hirschfeld.

"My private life and my work for the birth control movement are kept separate entirely," Mrs. Sanger said today. "Since my marriage to Mr. Slee, I have been able to devote myself to my work more intensely than ever before. He has been of much assistance and never interferes with what I am doing. He has his business. I have mine."

Slee came to this country from South Africa, where he was born in September, 1861, of English parents. His first wife was Mary Rosevelt West of New Windsor, N. Y.

DAILY PUZZLE

Of course, every one has heard the story of George Washington and his little hatchet, and the damage he did to his father's pet cherry tree. It has been assumed by some historians that the tree was just four inches in diameter at the spot where little George started to chop.

On his first stroke he could penetrate one inch; but as the cutting became more difficult on each stroke that was made further in the tree, each succeeding stroke would cut just one-eighth of an inch less deep than the stroke preceding. Thus the first stroke would cut one inch; the second seven-eighths of an inch, and the third six-eighths.

In how many strokes did George cut down the cherry tree?

NEW JERSEY CHILDREN STRING TAGS, MAKE FRENCH KNOTS

By NEA Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Baby hands in New Jersey tenements string milk tags at 20 cents the thousand—make powder puffs at 55 cents the gross and put French knots on cambrics at 15 cents the dozen.

And these same hands have aroused legislators and child welfare workers to their defense.

New Jersey Law Lax.

New Jersey lawmakers forgot all about them and New York sweatshop bosses, unable to escape the New York regulations against tenement home work, sent their work across the river to be done by the children of Jersey City.

Nobody bothered, nobody cared, until suddenly there arose in his cradle a young and fiery Italian tenement worker—Corrado Riggio by name.

Riggio sent to the authorities 12 cases of children, overworked, undernourished, weary and sodden-eyed. The authorities investigated. The 12 cases spread to a thousand!

It was not always poverty that forced these children to work. Frequently it was greed.

One family, investigators found, owned the tenement in which they lived. All of the seven children were subnormal. The oldest—a boy of 16—had the mentality of a child of 4. An 8-year-old girl had never been to school. The baby of 8 months had only one bath since its birth because the mother was too busy making French knots.

Works at 4 A. M. And yet this mother and her children, assisted by a father, working steadily, were able to earn only $6 a week.

Eight-year-old Vido—a member of this family—was so busy with his needle when inspectors called that he took no interest when candy was offered him. A settlement worker unwrapped the candy and put it in Vido's mouth before he would eat it.

Thirteen-year-old Marianna, Vido's sister, was used to getting up at 4 o'clock in the morning to start her embroidery work. It was 7 o'clock when investigators called and in that time Marianna had earned 20 cents. The morning was yet dark and the only light came from a flickering gas jet. Marianna was to busy that she did not look up when someone put a string of beads around her neck.

"I used to do that kind of work," said Marianna's sister, "but my eyes gave out. Marianna's fine at it, though. It's such a pity she has to go to school."

Never Play. Up in a dark three-room rickety tenement, six children were stringing tags for milk cans at 20 cents a thousand. The oldest was 10, the youngest 4. By working steadily they told investigators they could do a thousand tags in half an hour.

"But when do you play, baby?" asked someone of Julie, the 4-year-old. Ang, Julie answered, "Never."

BRICK DEMAND FOR BRICK FORECASTS PAVING ACTIVITY CLEVELAND, Feb. 19.—A sharp increase in unfilled orders for vitrified paving brick, as reported to the U. S. department of commerce, may be taken as an indication of an active street and highway paving season for 1924 in the belief of the National Paving Brick Manufacturers association here.

Unfilled orders in December jumped to 60,624,000 as against 54,533,000 for November, and this is considered an accurate gauge of the demand for early spring and summer shipments.

A statement from the association: "Stock on hand exceeds the total of unfilled orders. It is interesting to note also that contractors and engineers are assisting in relieving the season aspect of the paving brick industry by asking for winter deliveries."

In the distribution to unfilled orders, Oklahoma leads the list, with Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Illinois following consecutively.

MINING TOWN NO LONGER PAVED WITH GOLD NUGGETS GRASS VALLEY, CAL., Feb. 19.—Despite the tradition that has clung to this mining town of the Sierra Nevada mountains for 75 years, that its streets literally were paved with gold, the populace, swept at last by the modern spirit, has caused thick coatings of concrete to be laid over the reputed gold.

The tale of golden paving had some color of truth for gold in the form of small nuggets and particles clinging to quartz was found not infrequently. This was due largely to the fact that from the earliest days the streets were macadamized with refuse from the mine reduction plants encircling the town. There was, besides, a certain amount of gold in the soil under the streets.

LAWSON JOINS HUNT FOR THE MURDERERS

(By The Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Norman Lawson, here from his home in Alvarado, Texas, was working with the police today in an effort to pierce the mystery surrounding the murder of his sister, Louise Lawson, who was strangled in her fashionable apartment by gang thieves.

He was said to have told the police all he knew of the girl's activities since she left her home at the age of 18, six years ago, to study music in New York. The police said he appeared to know little of his sister's mode of life since she left home, holding the impression with others of her relatives that she had achieved considerable success in theatrical and motion picture circles.

EDDIE COLLINS INVOLVED IN NEW ANGLE TO SOX MYSTERY

By CRUISINBERY
NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—New elements of mystery have entered the case of the Chicago White Sox and the clubs pilots of the coming season.

Eddie Collins, veteran second baseman of the Sox now appears to be involved in the situation to which there have been such speculations of recent days. Eddie Collins' resignation as manager because of ill health, Owner C. A. Comiskey's refusal to accept the resignation and the announcement he would give Chance two months for the season opens to again the question of Collins' withdrawal of his resignation. Chance's appointment as coach of Johnny Evers, veteran second baseman of the Cubs in the palm days of Chance to handle the club until Chance takes hold.

Here enters Collins. He is supposed to be on the market, but no deal for him is completed. He is in the eyes of many fans, a local nominee for the major league. Collins' peerless leader fan would decline. It was learned today that Collins, who lives just outside of Philadelphia, was in New York all day Sunday and until this afternoon when he took a train for Chicago. No cable was able to learn from him why he was here, but he was reported as saying he came here to get a fast train for Chicago. A train stops at Philadelphia en route to Chicago that is as fast as any that goes out of New York.

One thing and another has led to the belief here that it isn't ill health alone that has led to the resignation of Chance. The wise ones say that when the deal wasn't put through according to his wishes, he immediately sent in his resignation. Chance is that kind of a manager, as all who knew him in the old days will agree. He can't do with it. For that reason, many believe Chance already has quit the White Sox.

There was no one around New York today who could throw light on the tangle. Some thought the deal had been made a long time ago to get Collins for the Yankees possibly had been recognized by the sudden turn of affairs.

Great Hurling Staff of Reds

CINCINNATI, Feb. 19.—Cincinnati, with its "Royal Red" pitching staff, is knocking at the door of baseball's hall of fame. On paper it would appear that the Reds have the strongest pitching staff in the National League. The "Royal Red Seven," as the staff has been called, is composed of the veterans Lique, Benton, Donohue, Mays and Rixey, and the recruits May and Sheehan. Lique was the leading pitcher in the major leagues last year, when he won 27 and lost eight. Rixey won 20 and lost 15. Donohue, 21 and 15, and Benton 14 and 10. Thus, this quartette won a total of 82 games, almost enough to win a pennant, and if they do as well during the coming season, the chances of the Reds will be bright.

It is difficult to figure just how the new pitchers will fit in. Carl Mays, the Yankee castoff, took part in only seven games with the world's champion last season, and although he plays last season, he ranked near the bottom in the earned run averages. Jackie May, the Pacific Coast southpaw last season won 19 and lost 22, which was not as impressive a record as he made in 1922, when he won 35 and lost only nine games. Sheehan has made an excellent record in the American Association. Last season he won 31 games and lost nine.

Pat Moran, manager of the Reds, gets from this trio a winner and a fair performer. He will be in a position to seriously challenge the monopoly which the New York Giants have had on the National League pennant for the last three years. The three pitchers cost the Cincinnati club close to $100,000 in cash and players, which is proof of the extent to which Garry Herrmann, owner of the club, is willing to go to insure a championship.

Carl Mays, wearing the flannels of the National League, will be an uncertain quantity. He experienced his first bad season in the major leagues in 1923, but Manager Moran is gambling that his underhand pitcher will prove a puzzle to the batters of the National League for one season at least.

COLLEGE PLAYERS STAR IN MAJORS

TOP, LEFT TO RIGHT, DONAHUE, DUGAN, COLLINS, SISLER, CENTER, FRISCH

By BILLY EVANS
Are the colleges a good field for the major league ball clubs?

Fifteen years ago a majority of the big league managers would have ridiculed the idea. Today they are not so sure.

In those days Connie Mack was the only leader who had faith in the college as a baseball prospect. It was Mack who paved the way for the "rah-rah" athlete when he developed Eddie Plank, Jack Coombs, Eddie Collins and Jack Barry into big league stars.

All of them came direct from the college field and made good in the big show. They had no other baseball experience. Of course it required a few years to acquire the major league polish and become stars.

Mack's ability to visualize as to the possibilities of the collegian for a time gave him the pick of the school athletes. That time is past. Major league scouts now explore the college field as thoroughly as they do the minors.

It is a rather interesting fact that five of the games greatest players came direct from the college field and made good.

In the matter of playing second base it would be a difficult matter to pick two more brilliant players than Eddie Collins and Frankie Frisch. Both are the educated type athlete.

Collins was dug up by Connie Mack back in 1907. Eddie was then a star at Columbia University in both football and baseball. Under the tutelage of Mack he has developed into one of the greatest infielders of all time.

Frankie Frisch is a graduate of Fordham. He stepped right into the New York Giants lineup and made good on his first appearance. He first won fame at third base.

When McGraw secured Heinie Groh he shifted Frisch to second. At the more difficult position the talented young man showed even greater ability.

Frisch is one of the most remarkable ball players I have ever seen. He does everything well. He is worthy successor to the great Collins in the art of playing second base.

Joe Dugan is the premier third baseman of the majors. He is a protégé of Connie Mack, coming from Holy Cross.

In selecting a first baseman the name of George Sisler immediately comes to mind. Sisler is a Michigan graduate.

In Pete Donahue, Cincinnati has one of the leading pitchers in the majors. He is a master workman. Pete came to the Reds from a small Texas college.

Quite a boost for the college field to have five of the premier players to have received their baseball knowledge as one of the liberal advantages of a college education, good on his first appearance. He won

Tommy McNamara was the original Gene Sarazen booster. Two years ago he predicted the Little League would be the next open champion and he was. Now McNamara says the same thing about Henry Cluck, another youthful Italian, winning the Cluck had a 71 at Inwood last summer.

Canada has come to the front with a star woman golfer in the person of Mrs. Harold Hutchings of Winnipeg. Wintering in California, she set two course records, a 72 at DelMonte and an 82 at Pebble Beach, both tough courses. Mrs. Hutchings went to the semi-finals in the Canadian championship last summer.

Strike Four: You're Out

By BILLY EVANS.
Didja ever hear of a batter getting four strikes in a major league game? No! Well, I did. Malachi Kittredge was the batter. Tommy Connolly was the umpire. The game was played at Chicago. I was umpiring with Connolly.

It was the first of the ninth and Chicago was leading by a lopsided score. Kittredge swung at two and missed, then stood with his bat on the shoulder while Connolly called the third one.

"So that was a strike?" said Connolly, mottledly.
"Who ever heard of an umpire thinking he was Kittredge's retort as he started to leave the batter's box and walk to the bench.
"I did make a mistake, in calling you out on a third strike," replied Connolly. "In discussing you with President Johnson this morning he agreed that your batting average entitled you to four. Come back and have another."

FOR THE GAME'S SAKE

BY LAWRENCE PERRY

By LAWRENCE PERRY
(Copyright, 1924, by The Bee)
NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Just at a time when President Angell of Yale has made a significant statement concerning the football coaching system of the Big Three universities, Princeton is at least whom to select as coach to succeed William Roper in 1925.

At Harvard, Fisher is appointed by the season. It will thus be grasped that, so far as contractual obligations are concerned, Nassau and the Crimmon are not bound to the future. And Yale with Tad Jones is not obligated for more than another year.

The time thus is regarded by not a few influential alumni of Yale, Harvard and Princeton as ripe for what may prove to be a radical change in the conduct of inter-collegiate football among these institutions. Not only that, it is known that more than one important seat of learning is ready to grapple with the development of a situation which they feel is sustaining undue importance as compared to the essential features of collegiate life.

The past has shown that Harvard, Princeton and Yale have been very influential, not only in the development of football as a game, but in establishing certain faults that have been promulgated with it as well as in the promulgation of remedies for some of those faults. Hence anything that the Big Three does in the next 12 months to bring football within what some educators would regard as sane limits is likely to have a constructive effect.

It would be well not to minimize the importance of those among the faculties and alumni of the so-called Big Three who are likely to urge that a change be made. Nor would it be altogether a complete presentation of the situation to ignore the fact that on the other hand there are elements strong enough to stand against such a change—among the alumni, that is to say, that would be content with something of a gesture in the direction of reform but are the all intents and purposes, standpatters.

The most tangible suggestion which seems to emanate from a group of Harvard and Princeton alumni is that no coach shall be engaged by Yale, Harvard or Princeton who has been out of college more than three years. This is to discourage graduates from making a life profession of coaching, and to bring the game more definitely into the hands of the undergraduates and the younger alumni.

At Yale there seems to be a tendency to return to old methods where the captain was not only king of his team, but to all intents and purposes, head coach as well; the fact apparently is ignored that in those days all captains had the benefit of Walter Camp's advice and instruction. Camp was not a head coach and has not been for many years. He was largely instrumental in Yale's success.

Just what plan President Angell of Yale has been proposing to his colleagues at Princeton and Harvard is not known. In the meantime those of Princeton football have been scrutinizing all available alumni and, as a fact, have not neglected to canvass outside possibilities. This, not so much with a view to naming a definite line in the way to naming a successor to Roper as a desire to place themselves in possession of complete information concerning all possibilities and to be in a position to suggest alternative courses of action.

Princeton's present problem as it has shaped up to date, seems to be this. Shall she depart from tradition and select a man as coach who has not a student at Princeton and has a national reputation as a man whose failures have been far fewer than his successes? Or shall she take as a head coach a New York professional man, a football alumnus who has been able to keep in touch with the game, a football trend in the closest possible manner: a man who would be able to continue his business and at the same time supervise football—in short, Philip T. Brasher? Brasher, as head coach, and Frank Bergin, who coached for some time with success at Bodwadin and turned out a mighty fine Peiham Bay training station eleven during the war, as field coach? It is said that William Roper er's candidate is Tom Wilson, if he can be secured.

Or shall Princeton make time until it is determined whether or not the Big Three as a whole is definitely set along lines as set forth by President Angell of Yale in his Boston address last week? As to the first may be said that entreat among Princeton alumni would probably be heavily against the selection of an outside coach, no matter what promise he might give of turning out winners even aside from all consideration as to the impression this might make upon her two closest friends, Harvard and Yale.

The second alternative might well come to pass. But finally, in view of things that are just now in the air, it is likely enough that Nassau will mark time, in the meanwhile, holding an open mind to whatever may be working up. Some Yale men say that President Angell's views as to coaching changes relate only to having coaches away from players during games. That is the undergraduate belief. But his ideas are probably more comprehensive than that.

NAPOLÉON'S DEATH MASK PRESENTED HISTORICAL SOCIETY

(By Chicago Tribune Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—The death mask of Napoleon—for many years known as the missing fifth mask—today was presented to the Chicago Historical Society by Joy Martin. It was told at the same time the remarkable history of the relic.

A buccannering doctor, Francois Antommarchi, had five masks made at the time of Napoleon's death in 1821, reserving the fifth for himself. It is now in the possession of the Louvre, one in the British museum and the other is owned by Lawrence Hutton.

The doctor, a few years later made a trip to Mexico taking the mask with him and leaving it at the home of a friend while making explorations in the interior, during which he took ill and died. The box containing the mask and other effects lay in the home of the friend, until opened, for many years, but later was given to an American who married a Mexican girl.

This American presented the mask in 1892 to Captain Guy Howard, a son of General O. O. Howard, who died in the Philippine Islands as a colonel in 1894. The mask has since the time been in the possession of a widow, a daughter of J. M. Woolworth, an attorney of Omaha, Neb.

Have Dogs Same Legal Rights?

COULD A SETTER LIKE THIS COMMIT SUICIDE? A NEW JERSEY COURT ANSWERS "YES"

By ALEXANDER HERMAN
NET Service Staff Writer
NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 20.—Do dogs commit suicide?

Can they be killed at the will of their owner?

The courts of this State will have to decide, for a dog has his day even before the law.

The principal in the first case is one "Pep," late pet of the Jacobus family of fashionable Montclair.

He was a valuable English setter, a favorite with all. One day last October he ran out on the middle of the road near his home, just as a machine, driven by the wife of a railroad official, came along. The woman tried to stop the car, but it was too late.

Pep's owner started an action in the District Court to recover $400 damages. He proved that the dog was worth that much, and then contended that Pep had been rightfully on the highway, and had been killed by a speeding automobile.

Frank C. Turner, attorney for the defense, argued that the dog failed to follow the instinct to get out of the way, and that he therefore contributed to his death by his own negligence, and was guilty, to all legal purposes, of committing suicide.

The judge accepted this same view, and decided against Pep's owners. Now they are preparing to carry the case to a higher court.

In the second case, six blooded aristocrats of dogdom are the principals. They were the pets of Mrs. Bartholomew Dunn of Summit, N. J., who died recently.

She was afraid that the pets might be mistreated after her death. So she willed that they be chloroformed! Her heirs want to break the will.

For not only are the dogs favorites of theirs, but they also have a great value—two of them at least being worth $1,000 each.

If this court makes a ruling in this case, it may set a precedent that may be a boon to thousands of youngsters who have no recourse when the dog-catcher comes along and takes their mongrel pups to the pound.

So they are rooting for the Dunn dogs—not that they should like to own 'em.

But because they may make the world safer for their own pets.

Henry Ford's Bobby Is Bread

DEARBORN, Mich., Feb. 20.—Henry Ford leaned over the gate of a little cottage near his home here. "John," he said to the boy on the other side, "I hear you are causing your mother a lot of worry. What seems to be the trouble?"

Ford talked to the boy for an hour. The boy's mother has had no more trouble.

The filivmaker takes a keen interest in his neighbors. He has never forgotten his old friends, but Ford is not the man to make them rich merely because he likes them.

Recently someone asked Ford for $2,000,000 to "stamp out the boll weevil."

"What are you going to do with the $2,000,000?" Ford asked. "If ten times $2,000,000 would stamp out the weevil, it would have been killed long ago."

One of Ford's principal hobbies is bread. He has experimented for years with bread, trying to produce a loaf that will suit him exactly. He is pretty well satisfied with a certain mixture of whole wheat and white flour.

Ford has no regular job. He even has no regular office. He turned the presidency of the Ford Motor Co. over to his son, but he is boss of the entire works.

He has a luxuriously appointed office, but never uses it. Others are enthroned behind glass-topped desks, pressing buttons, signing contracts, reading mail.

He goes to his office in another, watching the production of cars.

BOY BECOMES CABINET MEMBER
NORTHAMPTON, England, Feb. 19.—Frederick Owen Roberts, pensions minister in the "Labor cabinet," was the "noisiest of four sons," his mother said recently to an Evening News representative, and developed an early liking for music. But as he tried to extract this from a cornet he became very unpopular in the house and had to be sent down to the garden to practice. Later he was entrusted with a kettle drum in the local village band, and on arriving at Roberts adopted the violin.

When 14 years of age young Roberts started work in a newspaper office as compositor, and spent 25 years at the inotype machines before taking up trade unionism as a whole time occupation. Roberts' mother is postmistress at the East London post office, and received the news of his appointment as minister of pensions over the telephone.

AUSTRALIAN BOY PROVES
MARVEL AS A SWIMMER
NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Australia is producing another swimmer, a 16-year-old college student, for swimming honors and many believe he will prove the greatest middle-distance swimmer since the discovery of Johnny Weissmuller, the Chicago star, a few years ago. Charlton will represent Australia in the 400 and 1,500 meters free style swimming events in connection with the Olympic games at Paris. Recently at Sydney, competing against Arne Borg, the Swedish champion, he swam the 800-yard event in the world record time of 10:51 4-5.

Using the American crawl stroke, Charlton has amazed the water experts of the Antipodes. He stands more than six feet, weighs more than 200 pounds and has an ideal build for swimming. He has broad shoulders, a tapering body and his greatest asset is his judge of pace.

Charlton's rise to fame marks the return of Australia to a prominent place in the aquatic world, which it held years ago. He joins the ranks of Cavil, Champion, Hardwick, the late Cecil Healy and Longworth, originators of the Australian crawl stroke.

Most credited Ford myth is the popular belief that he rose from poverty. Truth is, that Henry's father was a to-do farmer and justice of the peace. And when Henry reached man's estate he was able to hold down a $150 a month job as a mechanic—and $150 was a lot of money in those days.

Ford personifies authority. Those in his organization who question his decisions find themselves "out" without delay.

He is a hard taskmaster for himself.

self, and expects as much hard work from others as he extracts from himself. He generally is at work two hours ahead of any of his executives.

MAY SELECT PARK IN APPALACHAINS

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—A committee of five citizens is being organized to study next summer the Southern Appalachian Mountain range, with a view to selecting an area for a national park, the second national park in the East. The other is on the coast of Maine.

Invitations have been sent by Secretary Work to Representative Temple of Pennsylvania; Major W. A. Welch, general manager of the Palisades Interstate Park Commission, and Colonel Glenn Smith, of the geological survey, asking that they serve on the committee. Barrington Moore, Secretary of the Council on National Parks, Forest and Wild Life, New York, has been asked to name the other two members.

In view of the widespread interest in creation of additional national parks and the fact that several bills have been introduced proposing their establishment Secretary Work said he felt a survey of the Southern Appalachian range should be made.

2 WEALTHY GIRLS GETS JOBS IN STORE

(By Chicago Tribune Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Miss Phyllis Field, heiress daughter of Stanley Field, and Miss Ruth Keeley, daughter of James Keeley, former newspaper publisher and now an official of the Pullman Company, both prominent in the younger social circles, put on their darkest dresses early this morning, and on time to the minute punched the employees clock at Marshall Field and Company's big store.

Miss Field was assigned to the women in the department's section, and Miss Keeley took her place among the pink and rosy undergarments of the same section.

Neither of the girls had informed their oldest friends or members of

MANY WOMEN VICTIMS OF WILD CAT INVESTMENTS
OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 19.—Bad investments have trapped many women in the United States in the last year, Mrs. George A. Riggs, a bank official and treasurer of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, said in a recent address here.

"In 1922," she added, "$21,000,000 was lost by women in stock and bond investments. Thousands of women in the past two years have been led to invest their savings in the most precarious of wild cat schemes. Other women, coming suddenly into a sum of money have not the slightest idea where it can be placed safely."

Mrs. Riggs pointed out that women depositors in banks now were nearly equal in number to men depositors. The average woman of today, she said, does about 85 per cent the buying for the household, and women are coming to have increased importance in the economic situation.

LADY ASTOR'S DRESS IS VERY SIMPLE

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Lady Parnell has carried out her campaign threat to wear her best clothes in the House of Commons, instead of following the lead of Lady Astor, who set a precedent for the first three women members of parliament with her simple black coat, suit and white silk shirt with broad taupe back collar.

Seven of the eight feminine parliamentarians appeared for the first day's debating in plain dark costumes, either black or brown. But Lady Parnell wore a three-piece model of black chamois, the loose coat lined with lacquer red and bordered with gold overbraided in red to match. Her sheer alken stockings were of a light hue. She wore a light hat, its crown swathed with a wide black ribbon tied in a bow on one side. In the center of the hat was an upright buckle that caught and flashed the rays of light.

Lady Astor was dressed with the same severity. Unusually in the simplicity with which she has always appeared in the house. So was Mrs. Phillimore, a former musical comedy star, and Mrs. Wintingham wore black, as usual. The Duchess of Atholl wore a black frock and a shining hat of draped satin. The three Laborite ladies—Dorothy Jewson, Susan Lawrence and Margaret Bondfield—were, unlike the rest, hatless. Their costumes were simple and plain.

ALASKANS CROSS MARTEN WITH CAT FOR FINE PELT
WHITNEY, Alaska, Feb. 19.—An animal that is a cross between a marten and a cat is being produced for its luxuriant pelt by "Shorty" Hunter and "Shorty" Wenker, well known "sourdoughs" of this region.

The two trappers say the animal has the delicate pelt of the marten and the long silky fur of the cat. They hope to offer a fur resembling the Russian sable in various colors, including tortoise-shell.

HOLLYWOOD SAD OVER ILLNESS OF THEO. ROBERTS

Heart of Movieland of Make Believe Is at Last Discovered—Grand Old Man Both On and Off Screen.

By FORREST WHITE.
(Copyright, 1934) by The Bee.)
LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—A bold real estate subdivision, advertised as the heart of Hollywood, is being developed. The heart of Hollywood, the physical and geographical, the shadowland of make-believe, the place of quick changes and vivid contrasts, has lived a colorful life on the surface. Of its men and women who have had their adventures, their loves and their tragedies, they were as actors playing their parts. They held the stage for a while, and then they passed and their final fade out was simply the end of the play. Lights, and they were forgotten.

There is one actor—the only one of them all, whose fate has stirred Hollywood below the surface—who has found the heart of Hollywood. He is Theodore Roberts, reported as being a probably losing fight with death in Pittsburgh where he was stricken while on a tour to prove his faith, loyalty and usefulness to the world of the movies.

It is but the triteness of truth to call Theodore Roberts the grand old man of the movies. He played the part, to the life. It is doubtful if there ever was an actor of the silent drama so well loved on and off the screen. He worked his way patiently even degrading to a high place as an actor for the movies and as a screen figure he is probably better known and loved than any actor who ever posed before a gridding camera. And for all that, he was never a star.

If Theodore Roberts passes, there will be real grief in Hollywood. The motion picture colony will be stirred to new depths. Its heart will really have been touched. For he is more than a mere figure in shadowland. He has been a real friend, kind and true, to all who have had contact with him in his full years in motion picture production, and he is the one figure who can be said to have been absolutely free of the jealousy and false pride so characteristic of the profession.

Theodore Roberts was an actor—a trouper—long before he came into the movies, and that means much in movie land. The trouper, who have battled their way up through adversity and hard knocks common to the lot of actors who devote their lives to the profession, are a hardy breed, understand, have not only made the greatest success in the new art, but are uniformly distinguished from their fellows by their friendly spirit of aid, their tolerance and their charity.

When Theodore Roberts came to the movies, his sphere of usefulness seemed sadly limited. Old men parts, at the time, were scarcely more than "bits" and to feature an actor in such parts was beyond the wildest thoughts of any producer. He was a utility man in the studio and nothing more. Production in those days was more of a haphazard affair than it is today.

Roberts, witty, good-natured, and always interested, made a peculiar place for himself at the studio. He was the official referee of checker games. He was the third man at the table where the most interesting game was in progress and the measure of his interest was the unlighted and vigorously chewed cigar stub he held in his mouth.

One day, so the story goes, Roberts suddenly called from his chair at a checker game to his part on the set, forgot to discard the cigar stub in his mouth and in thought of the game he had left it in his mouth while taking part in a scene. The director, seeing the cigar stub in his mouth, ordered him to discard it. He tossed the offending stub away with true vigor in the course of action before the camera, with visions of a reprimand and a re-take of the scene on the following day, but the director, seeing the "rushed" found that his "old man" had registered in a new way, and thereafter Theodore Roberts did most of his acting before the screen with a cigar in action.

Roberts was a friend and a good foil for Wallace Reid, and had Reid, he would have been a great success on the screen for they were cast together in most of Reid's pictures.

All told, Roberts has probably appeared in more feature screen plays than any actor who ever faced the camera and really made a part for himself. In the last few productions he has been a featured actor and it was in the cards that he should be a star, particularly after his wonderful characterization of Moses in the production of a Bible prologue to a play.

But the slump came to the movies. Roberts was regular salaried man—a high-salaried player. Such actors were requested to aid the company by utilizing their earning power wherever they could. Roberts did not hesitate. He went into vaudeville and left Hollywood for a tour. He has not come back, and the heart of Hollywood is really reached, and its hopes are all for the recovery of the actor who has a million friends—and not an enemy.

Cotton Decline Will Be Probed

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Causes which have contributed to the break of 33¢ a bale in cotton during the past two months will be discussed at a conference tomorrow between senators from the cotton-producing states and Dr. Stuart, and Statisticians Zimmerman of the Census Bureau.
Decision to inquire exhaustively into this subject was reached at a conference late today of the senators from the cotton states. The meeting was called by Senator Smith, of South Carolina, who presided, and the senators examined many official and unofficial documents bearing on the whole subject.

U. N. C. WRESTLERS WIN
CHAMPIONSHIP, N. C. Feb. 20.—The wrestling team of Washington State defeated here tonight when the University of North Carolina grapplers outpointed them, 19 to 21. The Generals took one bout by a fall and two by time while the Tar Heels took two on falls and one on time.

The REFEREE

BY ALBERT APPLE.

GATS
Most cities try to curb the underworld's supply of firearms by such measures as registration of revolver sales or requiring police permits. These restrictions are counteracted by the sale of revolvers by mail-order.

A leading sporting magazine carries ads offering pistols. A typical ad says: "Send no money. Order now and pay postman on arrival." Nothing would go as far toward disarming the underworld as a national law prohibiting interstate commerce in revolvers except for officer of the law. A bill to this effect slumbers in a congressional pigeon-hole.

POWERFUL
The first dynamo, invented in 1831 by Faraday, developed less than one horsepower. Seventy thousand times as powerful is the neoelectricity generator, world's largest, at Niagara Falls. Now, this would sound like a waste of time, but a century ago called Faraday's crude dynamo an "interesting scientific toy!"

Recommended to the attention of the man who scoffs at the idea that airplanes will be fool-proof, safe as autos, and used by the millions.

MEMORY
Captain Stuyvesant Peabody, son of the deceased coal magnate of Chicago, in memory of his father pays the expenses of making a movie film showing miners the latest in mine-rescue and first-aid methods. Uncle Sam will help circulate this film to miners in the leading coal fields. This memorial film is a thousand years in advance of the customary tombstone. If the dead could speak, they'd say: "Take the money and spend it on any good cause."

COINS OF 600 B. C. SHOWN BY BANK IN NEW YORK CITY

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Inflation of currency is an old story. In fact, one of the oldest since man began to barter with money. This fact can be verified by a visit to the coin exhibitions which were opened in the Chatham and Phenix National bank and five of its branches yesterday under the auspices of the American Numismatic society. This is coin week, and the bank is being observed by similar exhibitions in about 20 other cities.

The spectacle of a million German marks being sold for a cent has been enacted before. More than 2,000 years ago, after a war with Sparta, hawking appeared upon the streets of that ancient capital and sold for less than the face value of the metal was debased. Various specimens of this spurious money is a feature of the exhibits.

The display of coins, the oldest of which dates back to 600 B. C. and the newest to the last coin struck from the mint, is contained in large cases in the lobby of the various banks. The biggest display is at the main office of the bank at 14 Broadway and the others at Fifth avenue and Thirtieth street, Fifty-seventh street and Third avenue, Eighteenth street and Broadway, 125th street and Lenox avenue and Broadway and Howard street.

The purpose of the exhibition, according to Morris Warner, president of the association, is to spread an interest in coin collecting and to demonstrate its value in the study of history and economics and as a attractive and educational hobby.
"The exhibition," said Howland Wood, curator of the American Numismatic society, at 156th street and Broadway, "is to give a bird's-eye view of the art of coinage in its entirety from its inception in 600 B. C. to the present day. A number of cases have been so arranged to show the art of coinage by the centuries from the beginning up to our own time."
The display is arranged to trace the first crude attempts, the perfection of the ancient coinage in the fourth and third centuries B. C., and the gradual decline in the late Roman empire.

C. T. I. NOTES

(Special to The Bee)
CHATHAM, Va., Feb. 20.—The second term of the Chatham Episcopal Institute is well under way, the examination grades having been posted and the schedule, both for the school work and the activities of the coming month, definitely outlined.
The students of the Senior History Class are much interested in the oratorical contest of the Times-Dispatch. Misses Chiswell Heald of Lynchburg, Jessie Dougherty of Philadelphia, Anne Colburn of Baltimore and Helen Smith of Danville will represent the school in this contest.
Saturday afternoon the student body attended the ball game between the Chatham Episcopal school and Chatham Training school in the gymnasium of C. T. I.
On Monday evening the members of the West Virginia Club delightful entertained the student body with a concert in the gymnasium.
Miss Priscilla Peter of Boston will, on the evening of the 23rd, read in the auditorium several one act plays and groups of poems. Miss Peter, who has a most magnetic personality, has visited C. T. I. several times in the past and all are looking forward to her return.
Miss Helen Beck, the well known pianist from New York, will give a concert in the gymnasium Monday, February 25th. All music lovers will be delighted with her program.
Misses Chiswell Heald of Lynchburg and Elizabeth Stoneman of Richmond attended the dances at the University of Virginia school and Chatham Training school in the gymnasium of C. T. I.
Miss Helen Wahmann spent the week end in Lynchburg and enjoyed the Hel-fests concert.
Miss Helen Canney of Suffolk returned Sunday after visiting home for her sister's wedding.

INDJUNS
Indians aren't becoming extinct. There are over 244,000 of them in the United States, or about 14,000 more than in 1913.
These Indians own a little over a billion dollars' worth of property. That's $2,000 apiece. It's an unique situation in the history of conquered races. Many a white man wishes he had $3,000 for himself and every member of his family.

ELEVATOR
The world's largest office building will be erected in New York. It will be 37 stories high, with nearly one and a half million square feet of floor space. Spread out flat, on one floor, this would cover 16 large city blocks.

RENTS
We wouldn't have skyscrapers if high land values didn't force tenants into the air. The elevator, designed to escape from high land values, has simply given land values more climbing power.
Rents would be cheaper if the elevator had never been invented, for without the elevator extreme congestion of population couldn't be.

QUARREL
A Yugoslav court settles a lawsuit that has been dragging in the courts for 500 years. This probably is the oldest lawsuit in the world. It involves ownership of a disputed piece of land.

On a large scale, that's all that's the trouble in Europe basically—rival nations and races contesting for land. Alsace-Lorraine, for instance. Courts settled the small land suit. The big similar disputes could be settled, too, by court processes—if nations would respect the court decisions. A war is nothing but a neighborhood row on a big scale.
